This course covers the main events, actors, and themes of Western Civilization up to about 1500. While doing this we hope to develop and improve critical thinking, analysis, and writing skills through the study of Western Civilization's social, economic, and political development.

READINGS

Western Civilization Beyond Boundaries by Thomas Noble, vol. I, 5th edition.
isbn #0-618-79425-5

I, Claudius by Robert Graves

GETTING STARTED

When first logging into the class go to Discussions, Cyber Café and read Getting Started, Discussion Postings and Group Assignments.

GOALS

By the end of the course, you should be able to:

1. Identify the major events and actors in Western Civilization up to about 1600.
2. Summarize the major debates over the course of Western Civilization up to about 1660.

Possible essay topics for mid-term:

1. Religion and ancient peoples before Jesus.
2. Sparta, Athens AND the Macedonian Conquest.
3. The Roman Republic.

Possible essay topics for final:

1. Discuss the development of Christianity and Islam and how they impacted history.
2. Discuss the "Crisis and Recovery in Late Medieval Europe, 1300-1500."
3. Discuss European overseas expansion and the Reformation and their impact on Western Civilization.

HOW THIS COURSE WORKS

Although this is a regular history class, with readings and exams that you might find in any class, you will be accessing my 'teaching' and contributing your 'learning' via the Internet. Although I will be accessible, you will not have the luxury of hearing someone explain everything to you. You will be able to direct your own learning and do so at your own pace more so than in a traditional class. YOU MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR OWN PROGRESS.

- 1 You will access information and share your learning through the website, at the time and place of your choosing (within certain limits). Since you will need to check the website regularly, you should bookmark it.
- 2 You will contribute to class discussions by posting your thoughts and comments on our discussion board. Because no one will know you are attending class if you don't "say" anything, your active participation in writing is crucial.
- 3 While an online course offers you great flexibility, it also presents a greater challenge to your self-discipline! Don't forget to turn on your computer!
- 4 You can access our online classroom by going to <http://vcccd.blackboard.com>
- 5 Username and password are the same as you use for WebStar.

Although technology makes our lives easier---unfortunately it doesn't always work. If you try to log on to our online classroom and can't, here's what to do:

1. Try again.
2. Try again later.
3. If you continue to have difficulties contact me. If I can't help you I will contact or direct you to Heather Untalan at 805-654-6452 or huntalan@vcccd.net

GRADES

Class discussion	30%
Chapter quizzes	15%
Claudius Paper	15%
Mid-term exam	20%
Final Exam	20%

Grading scale

900-1000= A
800-899= B
700-79= C
600-699 = D
below 600 = F

Grades will be posted in My Grades. Quizzes will be posted as you submit them. Remainder of grades I will post. Discussion Board grades will be posted weekly. Including the bonus mentioned below there are actually 1052 points available. As a result grading scale will be strictly followed. 899 points is a B (899 of 1052 = 85%). You must earn at least 900 points for an A, 800 for a B, etc.

Due to the nature of this course under no circumstances will students be able to be given an Incomplete. The Discussion Board cannot be made up at a later date.

DISCUSSION BOARD

Participation / discussion is crucial to your success. If you do not contribute to class discussion in writing, no one will know that you are attending class.

You will participate by posting comments to the Discussion Board. At the minimum, you should respond to one of the study questions that I post and respond to at least two of your classmates in each segment. For each segment, you may earn a maximum of ten points for discussion (up to 5 points for each response to me and 2.5 points for each response to classmates {for maximum of two}; total possible 10). Understand that postings will be ‘graded’ based on *timeliness and content. You are required to read ALL postings on Discussion Board (All means Cyber Café, review segments and all posts in your group’s segments. You are not required to read the other group’s posts). This is how we “attend” class. Those that read all postings will receive a 10% bonus of their discussion board points. Example: you read all posts and earn 250 points on Discussion Board. You would then receive 10% or 25 points. Chapters 1-6 posts must be read by midterm, chapters 7-14 by the final. Bonus will be posted at the conclusion of the class.

Introduction	10
28 Segments x 10 pts. =	280
Two reviews	20 (review for mid-term and final 5 points each)
Class survey	10

Possible total 300 points (30% of final grade). Note there are actually 320 points available. This allows you to miss a couple of segments or earn extra points by participating in all segments.

Note that one response to each question and two responses to classmate’s postings are the minimum. Feel free to respond as often as you wish. You will find that the more we all participate through the Discussion Board, the better prepared we will be for the exams.

In order to earn full credit for each of your postings, you should be sure to follow the guidelines below.

- 1. *Distribute postings evenly during the discussion period (not concentrated all on one day or at the beginning and/or end of the period). Those that post only on one day of a segment will not earn higher scores.

The discussion period of material ends at 11:59 pm on the date listed. We will have a segment due twice a week (Wednesdays and Saturdays). For example, the discussion period for chapter 1A ends at 11:59 pm on August 20. Thus, in order for you to gain points for contributing to this chapter’s discussion you must post your comments and replies by 11:59 pm August 20. Deadlines and evenly distributed postings will be strictly adhered to. Late postings are unacceptable as we will be discussing topics together. After the deadline the class will have moved on to the next topic. If you wait until 11:55 to post each time you will not be giving your classmates a chance to respond to your posting and you will be penalized. You MUST keep up!

NOTE: I have posted all discussion questions for the entire course. DO NOT post ahead of time. We need to discuss topics together. You may begin to post for the next segment on the last day of the current segment. There should be no more than a one day overlap. If you want to get ahead, write up post in Word, etc. and save. Then you can cut and paste at the appropriate time.

2. Post at least one paragraph to classmates and about three paragraphs to me. Keep postings focused on one topic. The questions posted on the Discussion Board will require more than three paragraphs to thoroughly discuss but don't take on too much at once. As various students post responses, we will completely discuss the topic by the deadline for that particular question. The Content Modules break down the material with Learning Objectives and Important Terms. I would recommend that you review the chapter discussion questions, review the Learning Objectives and then read the chapter. You should then be prepared to complete discussion and chapter quiz.
3. The textbook is a starting point for information. There are unlimited online resources for you to draw from. There is a list of additional online sources below and on Blackboard. Be sure to use other sources and websites in addition to the textbook.
4. Quote from assigned readings to support your postings. Include links when you quote from outside sources. Cite sources.
5. Build on the responses of others to further develop threads. Refer to what your classmates have written. Be aware that scores for discussion are based on your words. If you cut and paste from a source (such as Wikipedia) this content earns no points. Only your analysis or words earn points. This is not to say that you can't cut and paste from an outside source to share with the class. But you also need to include your own comments. Be sure to cite quotes.
6. Bring in related prior knowledge (work experience, other readings, etc.).
7. Avoid postings that are limited to 'I agree' or 'great idea', etc. If you agree or disagree with a posting then say why. In other words, contribute not what you feel, but what you think. Posting I agree or don't agree without a more in depth response will earn no points.
8. Use proper Netiquette (proper language, tone, mechanics). For example, to WRITE IN ALL CAPS is rude, for it is the equivalent of shouting. Further, in this academic setting, you should use proper grammar, spelling, and punctuation.

9. Be extra-nice. Your words are frozen here. Sarcasm and irony are difficult to convey in writing. No one can tell whether you were smiling or frowning when you wrote your contribution. This does not mean you can't disagree, just be careful (considerate) of how you disagree. Be aware that once you post you may not remove or amend posting.
10. CLASS SURVEY: There will be a class survey to be completed at conclusion of class. You will earn twenty points for completion. It should only take five or ten minutes to finish. The survey is for feedback for me only. The survey is anonymous. Blackboard will record who completed (so I can credit) but not who said what. It will not be available until December 8 and must be completed by 11:59pm on December 12 to receive credit.

CHAPTER QUIZZES

Quizzes provide a regular way for you to check your comprehension of the written material. The quizzes are completed in Blackboard and are due when the discussion for each chapter is due. Most quizzes will contain eighteen five multiple choice questions (two have seventeen). We will be covering fourteen chapters. Each correct answer will earn .6 points. There are a total of 250 questions. $250 \times .6 = 150$ possible points. As stated above under "Grades," quizzes are worth 15% of your grade. 1000 possible points in class; 150 on quizzes.

PAPER

Claudius Paper due my midnight November 8.

Paper on Claudius book should be 5-8 pages typed and double-spaced (less than five FULL pages will affect grade). Font 12. One inch margins. In addition, paper should have a cover page and bibliography. NO OTHER SOURCES ARE PERMITTED. Cite quotes as needed. Limit citations and none should be longer than one sentence. Paper should describe Roman government and society as told by I, Claudius. This is not a summary of the book but an analysis of the Roman Empire during the first century. Focus on topics in the back ground of the story such as women, economy, government, society religion, society. Quality of writing will be a factor in determining grade. Be aware that plagiarism will result in failure and be reported to the administration. Note that papers will be checked for plagiarism. Optional: You may submit a rough draft for review before due date. Be sure to specify that it is a rough draft. Submit papers as a word document (.doc), using an attachment to historymurray@aol.com Feel free to submit papers before due date.

MIDTERM EXAM: October 4 or 5

- Half of exam grade will consist of an essay you will write. Mid-term will cover chapters 1-6. There are three options for the mid-term. Two will be on the exam from which you pick one (for choices go to Learning Modules - Study Guides or Goals/essay topics above). I do expect your responses to be very thorough. I don't assume you know anything if you don't write it. Most common question from students is the required length of essay. Answer: I am not looking at quantity. I am looking for quality. Again, BE THOROUGH and detailed.

- The other half of grade will come from identifications. I will post a list of terms for you to study in preparation for the exams (see Course Documents. Essay choices are also available here). From the list I will place fifteen terms on the exams. You pick five from the fifteen to write on. You should identify the terms you choose AND discuss the significance. Rule of thumb: A paragraph to identify and a paragraph to discuss the significance. Again, be thorough.
- The exam will be conducted online. You will have three hours to complete. Submission MUST be in your own words. If it is not it will not be accepted. Once you start the clock is ticking and cannot be stopped. You will access under Assessments. Midterm will be available from 12:05 am October 4 to 11:55 pm October 5. Be sure you have three hours of uninterrupted time when you begin. Be sure to begin no later than 8:55 pm October 5.

FINAL EXAM: December 13-14

- Same as above except chapters 7-14. Essay options are in Study Guides or last three choices under Goals/essay topics listed above. Again, there are three essay options from which I will place two on the exam. You will then pick one to write on. See above for ID's.
- Exam will be conducted same as mid-term. Exam will be available from 12:05 am December 13 until 11:55 pm December 14. Be sure to begin by 9:55 pm December 14.

MISCELLANEOUS

A. Writing persuasively and speaking clearly are fundamental skills that should emerge from your college education. College level writing is expected.

B. Withdrawal is the responsibility of the student. If for some unforeseen reason you are not able to complete the course, YOU must drop through the Admissions Office. If you don't, I am forced to give you an F, and neither one of us wants that.

C. Classroom Conduct and Academic Honesty: In class behavior is expected to be considerate of others (including me). Adult, mature behavior can consist of disagreeing points of view, but should not criticize another student's ideas. Also, cheating (plagiarizing) will not be tolerated and will result in failure and be reported to the administration. Note that papers will be checked for plagiarism. To protect yourself cite anything that is not original.
